

My Name
Date of Presentation
Topic of Presentation

My contribution to this presentation consisted of blah blah blah meeting with my co-presenters to talk about yadda yadda yadda. I took responsibility for researching and preparing such-and-such part(s) of the presentation. We met with Jeremy to blah blah blah. I prepared such-and-such portions of the handout and such-and-such slides. I took what I had gathered from my research, decided which points were most important to convey (I conferred with my co-presenters about this) and wrote out my notes. Then I created the slides for my part and the portion of the handout that covered my part. We rehearsed the presentation and revised our material to make it fit in the time available. We all then finalized the slides and the handout.

Comment [JA1]: Document only YOUR work, not the work of others in your group. Each group member must submit her or his own documentation.

Comment [JA2]: Your statement of your contribution should be no more than half a page.

Sources used in the presentation

Author, Assigned Reading. "Title of Assigned Reading." Source of Assigned Reading, Publisher, Date, Etc.

Comment [JA3]: If you're using an assigned text or any source only found in print, give the bibliographic information, in Chicago or Turabian format, for that text.

Author, Famous. "Title of Relevant Article I Found on JSTOR." Some Reputable Philosophical Scholarly Journal 10 (1999): 12-21. <http://www.jstor.org/stable/370201977> (accessed November 14, 2009).

Author, Reputable. "Another Relevant Article Title I Found on JSTOR." Some Other Scholarly Journal 40 (June 2005): 247-264. <http://www.jstor.org/stable/201978947> (accessed November 12, 2009).

Comment [JA4]: For items accessed electronically via article databases, you must include full bibliographic information in Chicago or Turabian format + the exact URL for accessing the source. Use the "stable" or "persistent" URL whenever possible.

Author, Somebodyelse. "Title of Relevant Encyclopedia Entry." Stanford Encyclopedia of Philosophy (Fall 2009 Edition), Edward N. Zalta, ed. <http://plato.stanford.edu/entries/title-of-relevant-encyclopedia-entry/> (accessed November 10, 2009).

Author, Somebodyelseagain. "Title of Web Page." Site On Which Web Page Was Found. <http://here.is.the.complete.exact.url> (accessed November 1, 2009).

Username of Someone Who Posted a Video. "Title of Video Clip We Used." YouTube. <http://www.youtube.com/complete/exact/url> (accessed November 2, 2009).

Comment [JA5]: For internet sources give full bibliographic data in Chicago or Turabian format and the exact URL of the source.

Sources consulted but not used

(Author unknown.) "Title of a Web Page I Came Across." Site On Which Web Page Was Found. <http://here.is.the.complete.exact.url> (accessed November 2, 2009).

Comment [JA6]: Your list of sources must be divided into those you plan to use in the presentation and those you consulted but did not use. If you plan to use all sources in your presentation, say so by putting in this heading and then writing, "None."

(Author unknown.) "Title of Another Web Page I Came Across." Site On Which Web Page Was Found. <http://here.is.the.complete.exact.url> (accessed November 3, 2009).

My Mom. Personal communication, November 5, 2009.

Username of Someone Else Who Posted a Video That Turned Out to be Crap. "Title of Video Clip We Also Didn't Use." YouTube. <http://www.youtube.com/complete/exact/url> (accessed November 2, 2009).

Username of Someone Who Posted a Video. "Title of Video Clip We Didn't Use." YouTube. <http://www.youtube.com/complete/exact/url> (accessed November 2, 2009).

Whatshisface, John. Reference Book Pertaining to Our Topic. City: Publisher, Date of Publication.

Wikipedia contributors. "Name of Wikipedia Article." Wikipedia, The Free Encyclopedia. <http://en.wikipedia.org/here/is/the/exact/url>, accessed November 1, 2009.